

CARBONDALE.

WEDDING AND ANNIVERSARY.

Unique Event Celebrated at the Belcher Home in Susquehanna County.

Several Carbondale people were at Union Hill, Susquehanna county, last Saturday participating in a most unique event.

The day marked the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Amos A. Belcher and Amanda D. Giesecker. This was turned into a most enjoyable occasion by the gathering of nearly one hundred people at the Belcher home to make the day memorable to the aged couple. A large part of the company was made up of relatives who lived with one another in contributing to the interest of the day and two of Carbondale's young people easily surpassed all others in this attempt. These were Miss Ida Belcher, daughter of Mr. John G. Belcher of Rock street, and her husband, and granddaughter of the bride and groom of fifty years ago, and Mr. James Monroe also of this city, who lent special interest to the occasion by making it their wedding day, with the grand parents of the bride as witnesses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. J. Whalen, D. D., their pastor and friend, who with Mrs. Whalen and several other friends accompanied them.

Congratulations and hearty good wishes were showered upon the two couples, and the two brides were the recipients of valuable gifts.

The bride of Saturday is a most accomplished young woman, having served in a successful teacher in the schools of Susquehanna county, and who has made many friends since coming to Carbondale a little more than a year ago.

She was most tastefully dressed in a suit of steel granite cloth with white silk and lace trimmings.

The groom is a young man of the highest character, a valued employee of the Hendrick Manufacturing company, and one who enjoys a large circle of friends.

The young people will reside with the bride's people at 79 Rock street, where, after a few days they will be at home to their friends.

A decided feature of the event was the reading of a poem by Thomas Evans, which he composed. It was a remarkably fine production, full of pathos and yet overflowing with the writer's native wit.

Mr. Evans will be eighty-four years old in a few days, but his intellect is as keen as a man of thirty, and is a striking proof that the active mind does not grow old.

ANOTHER NIGHT OF THE FAIR.

The Close Will Be on Wednesday. When There Will Be a Complimentary Dance.

The Central Labor union fair, which was conducted with grand success in Watt's hall last week, will close on Wednesday night of this week, when a complimentary dance will be given. It was the intention to have the fair close on Saturday, but the absence of several books on articles that were to be disposed of, among them the ring, 20, the pipe, etc., made this impossible. It was decided then to have the closing night on Wednesday, when there will be a complimentary dance. There will be an admission of ten cents for men; this is to meet the expenses of the hall, but there will be no charge for dancing. This pleasure will be free to those who care to enjoy it.

The crowd at the fair Saturday night filled the hall. There was a throng such as was not witnessed on any of the preceding nights. Interest in the articles disposed of by chance ran high. Those who were fortunate, and the articles they won, at Miss T. Murphy, ticket No. 523, dinner set of 112 pieces; James Gordon, Gordon avenue, center table and lamp; Veronica Howard was victorious in the doll contest against Miss Hoffman, turning in 70 votes. Miss Cox, of Vandling, won the prize, a small clock, for selling the greatest number of tickets for the ring that will be disposed of on Wednesday, and in which so much interest has been displayed. She sold over 500 chances.

The door taken on Saturday, a box of cigars, was taken by ticket No. 25. The holder will please present the ticket.

The committee regrets that all who have books on the ring, the bed, the pipe, the $20 in gold and other articles, not yet disposed of, to please hand them in before Wednesday night.

THE LIGHT LITIGATION.

Will Be Discussed Probably at Select Council Meeting Tonight.

Select council will meet this evening and will likely discuss and take some action with reference to the preliminary injunction that has been issued against the signing of the street lighting contract.

It will be recalled that the validity of the contract has been attacked and that the court has temporarily enjoined the mayor from approving the contract. The mayor will tonight formally inform council of the nature of the action taken against him, and will ask what steps, if any, the city will take to defend against the injunction. As council is divided on the lighting question, there is likely to be some free expression of opinion before any action is taken. If, indeed, council will take any steps in this direction.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mato as an Artist.

A magician must have some artistic temperament but an artist need not have the temperament of a magician. In Mato, however, are combined both these talents. He is an exponent of art in its highest sense, and the large pictures drawn by him in full colors of nature on his mechanically revolving cases are truly an exhibition of art and dexterity. He draws them in from twenty-five to forty-five seconds and to make it more wonderful and entertaining to the audience the pictures are drawn upside and down and the cases are turned afterwards being righted by mechanical contrivance, when the beauty of a real work of art suddenly dawns upon you, for Mato is a real artist. This will be the opening of the entertainment course by the Broekway talent. The attraction will undoubtedly prove the most enjoyable of the course and it is expected that one of the most fashionable audiences of the season will be present.

"Nathan Hale" Wednesday.

The play of "Nathan Hale" by Clyde Fitch, which will be at the Grand Wednesday night, is not of the conventional melodramatic type, full of bombastic explosion, etc., but a true dramatization of that lovable and grand historic character, "Nathan Hale." Full of love for home and liberty he went on his hazardous commission with a determination that did credit to all our brave Revolutionary heroes. The part of "Hale," so well played by that intense young actor, Mr. Howard Kyle, is another link in his long chain of successes.

The company is composed of players picked for their parts, and the scenery and costumes are perfect in every detail, and will probably be one of the most important events in the dramatic season of 1901-02.

Callahan's "Faust" on Saturday.

Joseph E. Callahan and his company gave a splendid production of "Faust" at the Grand on Saturday night. The company was a capable one and Mr. Callahan's impersonation of the man with the red clothes was a good bit of acting. The accessories were unsurpassed.

Birthday Party was a Success.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

The remains of the late Joseph J. Gannon, who died in the Mercy hospital, at Pittsburgh, last week, after a brief illness, were brought here yesterday afternoon and taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Marion. The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock. The remains will be taken to Sacred Heart church and interment will be made in Calvary cemetery, Mayfield. The deceased, who was forty-two years of age, was well known throughout the valley and his death is generally regretted by his numerous friends. He is survived by two brothers, Charles, of Olyphant; George, and two sisters, Mrs. John Marion and Madge.

Thomas Trotter, of Second street, who, while buggy driving last Friday, was thrown out of the rig, has since been confined in the Emergency hospital, Carbondale, where he is being treated for a badly bruised shoulder. It was at first thought two of his ribs were broken, but examination showed that this was not so.

Are endorsed by Scranton citizens.

Mr. Isaac Smith, of 1100 S. 10th place, Hyde Park, employed by the P. & W. at the Archbald mines, was a miner, says: "I had a dull pain in the small of my back. It I turned about quickly, a stitch-like pain caught me across my loins. In looking over the paper I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills, and I read a statement of a person living in Scranton, who was troubled just as I was. I got a box of them at Matthews' drug store, and they proved just what I needed, and before I had taken the whole box the pain left me and I have been free from it ever since."
